In November, WealthManagement released its very first listing of Thrive Award recipients, and CAPTRUST was included!

This first-of-its-kind program acknowledges companies, individuals, and teams who have turned out blockbuster revenue growth over the past three years.

With average revenue growth of award winners estimated at three times the industry average, CAPTRUST made the list with 85 percent year-over-year organic growth in the wealth management business.

According to Wilson Hoyle, managing director and head of the firm's Advisor Group, CAPTRUST is seeing growth across all client types—wealth management, retirement plans, and endowments and foundations.

"We are and will continue to be a growth company," said Hoyle. "We think the ability to grow organically is the best indicator of a company's health."

The impressive list honors U.S. advisors and firms of all types, including solo advisors, ensembles, practices, family offices, registered investment advisors, and independent broker dealer representatives.

Applicants were assessed and segmented by various criteria, including size of book, geographic location, type of business, gender, and other measures.
